Summary of Questionnaires and Interviews

1 July 2008

HMYOI Parc

Juvenile survey methodology

A voluntary, confidential and anonymous survey of a representative proportion of the juvenile population was carried out by HM Inspectorate of Prisons as part of an annual report on the juvenile estate.

Choosing the sample size

At the time of the survey on 1 July 2008, the juvenile population at HMYOI Parc was 61. Questionnaires were offered to all juveniles.

Completion of the questionnaire was voluntary. Refusals were noted and no attempts were made to replace them. Four respondents refused to complete a questionnaire.

Interviews were carried out with any respondents with literacy difficulties. In total, two respondents were interviewed.

Methodology

Every attempt was made to distribute the questionnaires to each respondent on an individual basis. This gave researchers an opportunity to explain the independence of the Inspectorate and the purpose of the questionnaire, as well as to answer questions.

All completed questionnaires were confidential – only members of the Inspectorate saw them. In order to ensure confidentiality, respondents were asked to do one of the following:

- have their questionnaire ready to hand back to a member of the research team at a specified time
- to seal the questionnaire in the envelope provided and hand it to a member of staff, if they were agreeable, or
- to seal the questionnaire in the envelope provided and leave it in their room for collection.

Respondents were not asked to put their names on their questionnaire, although their responses could be identified back to them in line with child protection requirements.

Response rates

In total, 54 respondents completed and returned their questionnaires. This represented 89% of the juvenile population. In addition to the four respondents who refused to complete a questionnaire, two questionnaires were not returned and one was returned blank.

Comparisons

The following document details the results from the survey. All missing responses are excluded from the analysis. All data from each establishment has been weighted, in order to mimic a consistent percentage sampled in each establishment.

Presented alongside the results from this survey are the comparator figures for all juveniles surveyed in young offender institutions. This comparator is based on all responses from juvenile surveys carried out in all 15 prisons/units since 2005. In addition, this document shows statistically significant differences between the responses of juveniles surveyed at HMYOI Parc in 2007 and the responses of this 2008 survey.

In addition, a further comparative document is attached. Statistically significant differences between the responses of white juveniles and those from black and minority ethnic groups are shown.

In all the above documents, statistically significant differences are highlighted. Statistical significance merely indicates whether there is a real difference between the figures, that is the difference is not due to chance alone. Results that are significantly better are indicated by green shading, results that are significantly worse are indicated by blue shading, and where there is no significant difference there is no shading. Orange shading has been used to show a significant difference in young juveniles' background details.

It should be noted that, in order for statistical comparisons to be made between the most recent survey data and that of the previous survey, both sets of data have been coded in the same way. This may result in percentages from previous surveys looking higher or lower. However, both percentages are true of the populations they were taken from, and the statistical significance is correct.

Juvenile Survey Responses HMYOI Parc 2008

Juvenile Survey Responses (missing data has been excluded for each question). Please note: where there are apparently large differences, which are not indicated as statistically significant, this is likely to be due to chance. NB: this document shows, (1) a comparison between the responses from all juveniles surveyed in this establishment with all those surveyed for the juvenile comparator, (2) a comparison with the last survey results from this establishment. Due to changes to the questionnaire not all questions are comparable.
